

Faculty
Support

Global Virtual Workshop Series

January 22
at 10:00am

Models of Global Virtual Programs

This introductory workshop will give an overview of virtual international programming and specific models in which App State faculty have been involved.

February 9
at 3:00pm

Intercultural Learning in a Virtual Environment

At the heart of study abroad programming is the opportunity for students to gain intercultural competencies. This workshop will focus on how to provide intercultural learning opportunities through a virtual program.

March 18
at 2:00pm

Leveraging Technology for Global Virtual Programs

The right technology can ensure a successful virtual international program. This workshop will examine technologies available to you and how to use them to facilitate your program.

April 19
at 12:00pm

Global Virtual Programs as a Tool to Reach Underrepresented Students

This workshop will focus on how virtual international programming provides international and intercultural opportunities for students that are often excluded from traditional study abroad programs.

Office of International Education and Development

APPALACHIAN STATE UNIVERSITY

international.appstate.edu

